The image shows a matching exercise. On the left, there are seven animal illustrations: a dog, a wolf, a raccoon, a bear, a deer, a squirrel, and a rabbit. On the right, there are seven rows of tracks. Red lines connect each animal to its corresponding track pattern. The connections are: Dog to the first row of paw prints; Wolf to the second row of two parallel lines; Raccoon to the third row of small paw prints with a central dot; Bear to the fourth row of large paw prints with a central dot; Deer to the fifth row of hoof prints; Squirrel to the sixth row of small paw prints with a central dot; and Rabbit to the seventh row of paw prints with a central dot.
